Once upon a time, there was a boy called Khalid.
He lived on a farm that had a very big house.

One day Khalid was playing with his big sister and big brother in their cozy home. They had a knock on their door. Khalid's big sister went to see who it was and found a strange man with a pipe standing on their doorstep.

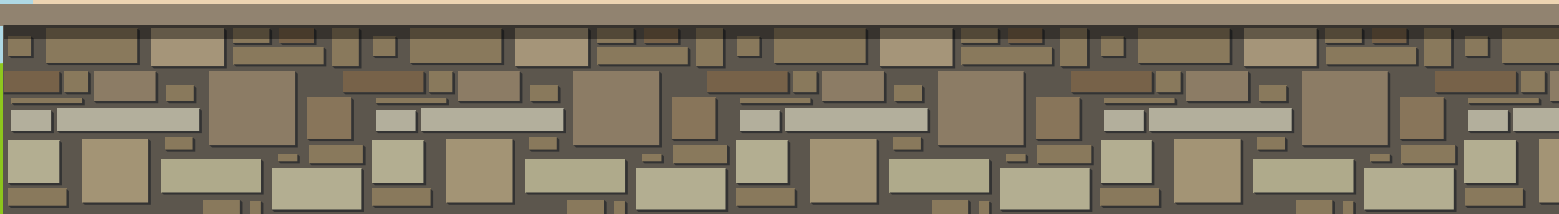

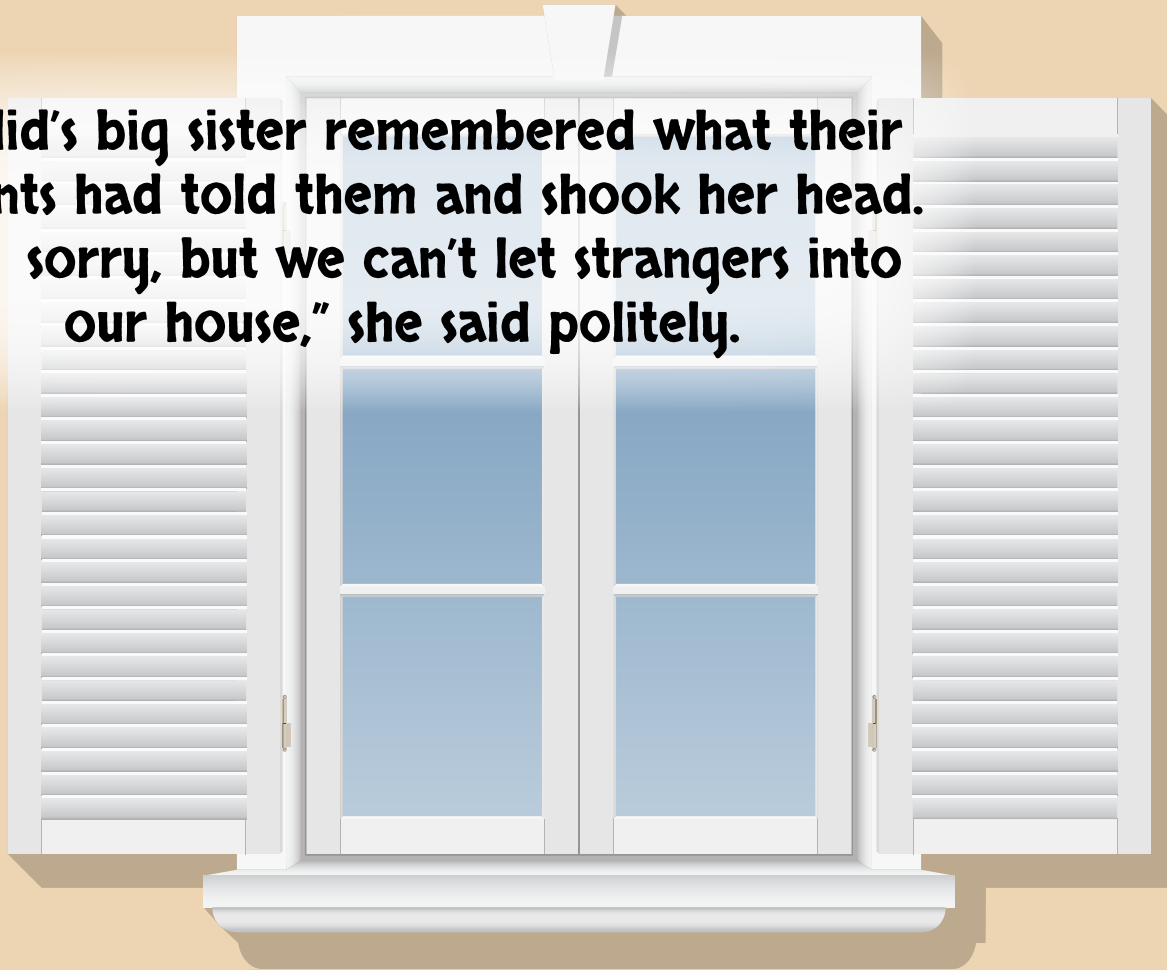

"Hello there," the man, who introduced himself as Mr. Piper, said with a smile, "My name is Mr. Piper, and I was wondering if I could come in and play a tune for you all on my pipe"

Khalid's big sister remembered what their parents had told them and shook her head. "I'm sorry, but we can't let strangers into our house," she said politely.

Mr. Piper didn't seem too disappointed and thanked her before walking away.

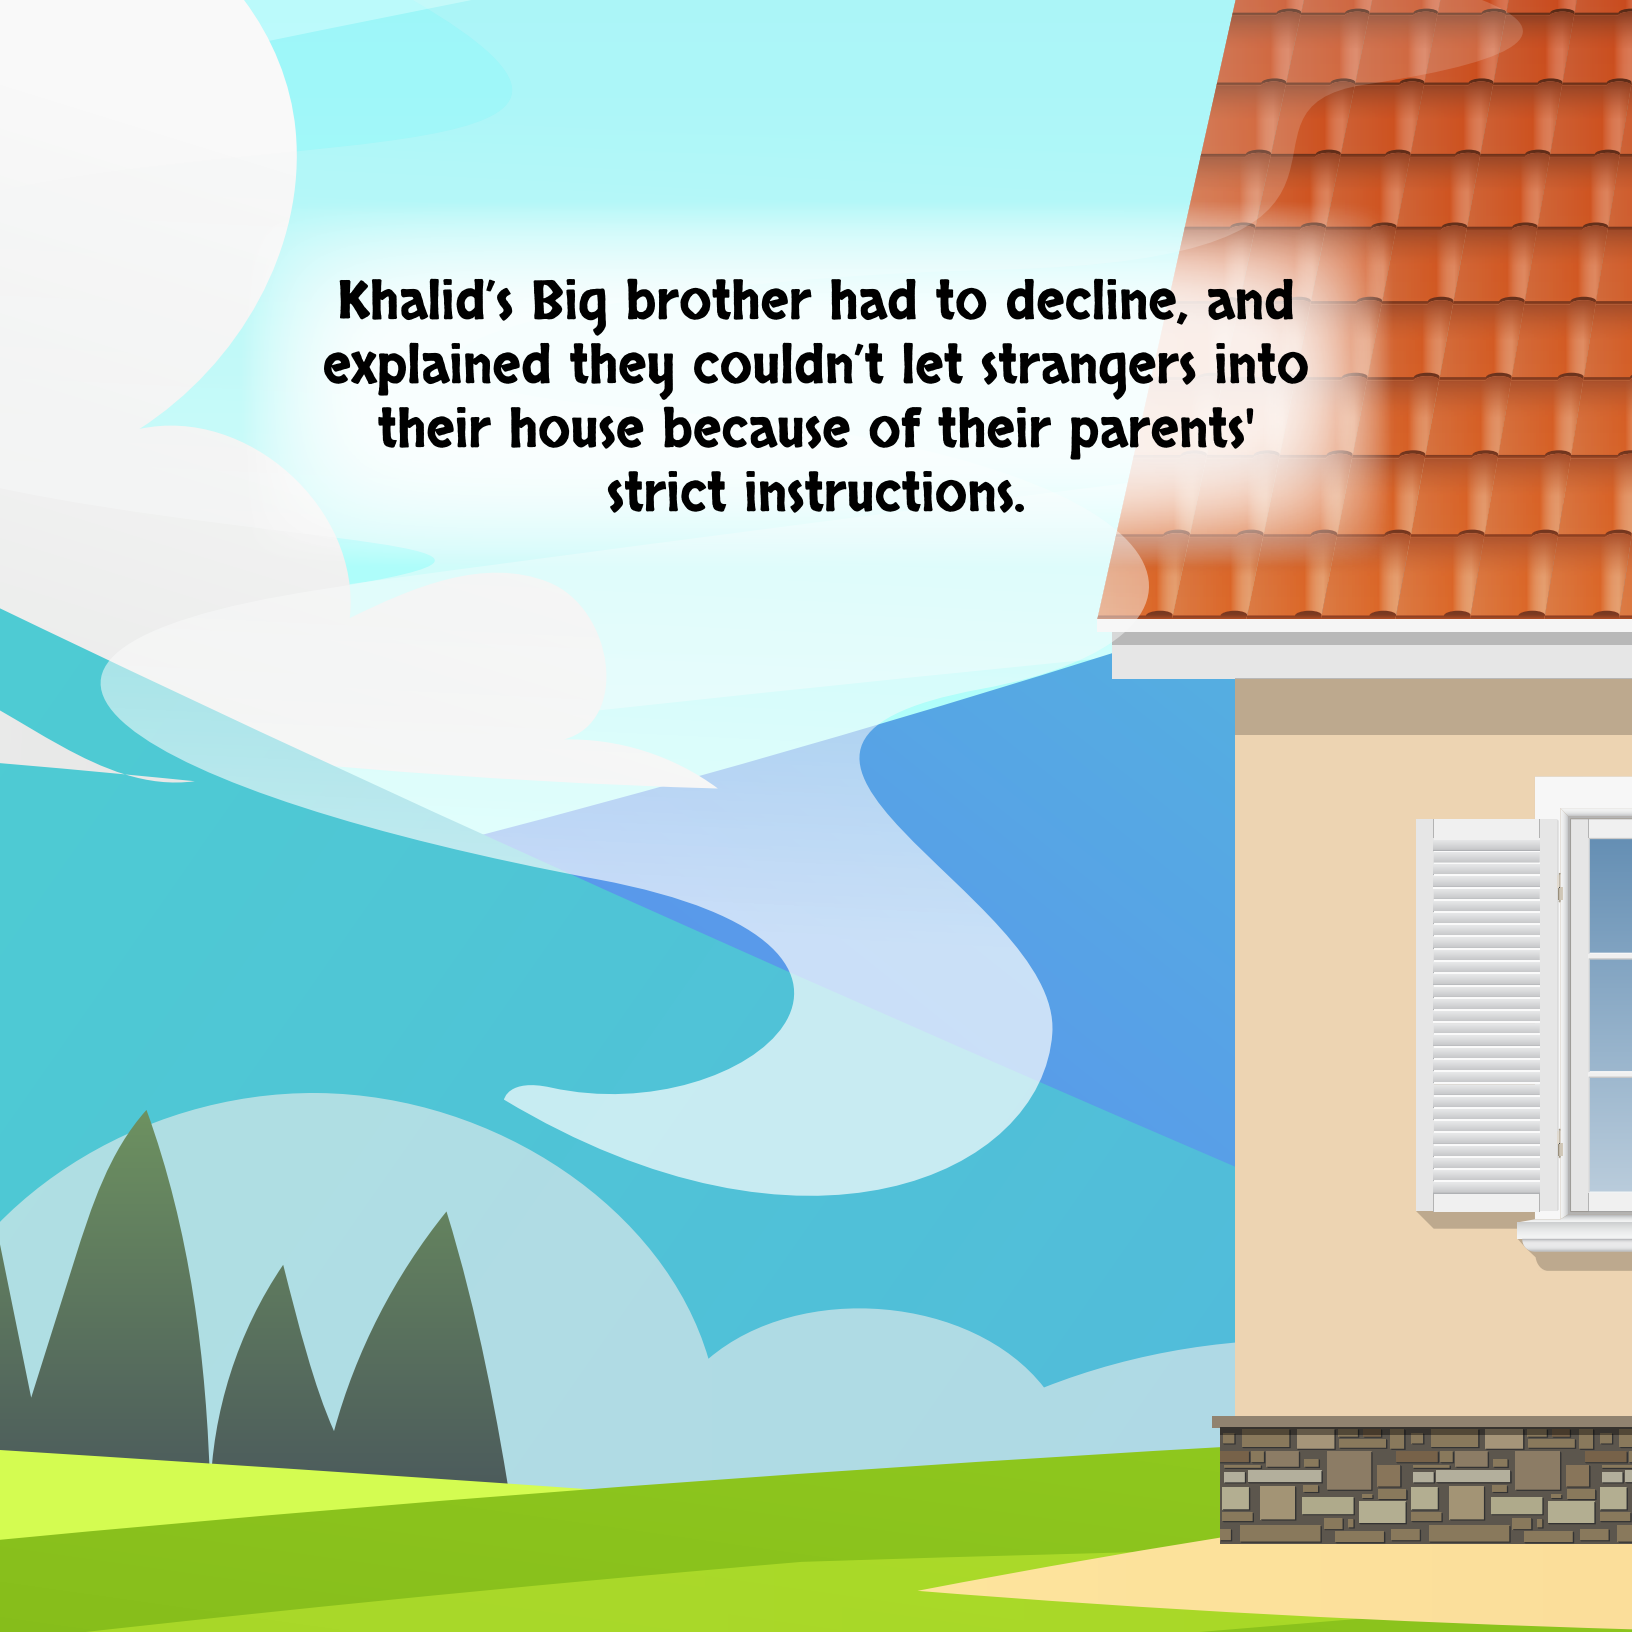

A little while later, there was another knock at the door. This time, it was a beautiful girl named Nancy. She asked if she could come in and get some water.

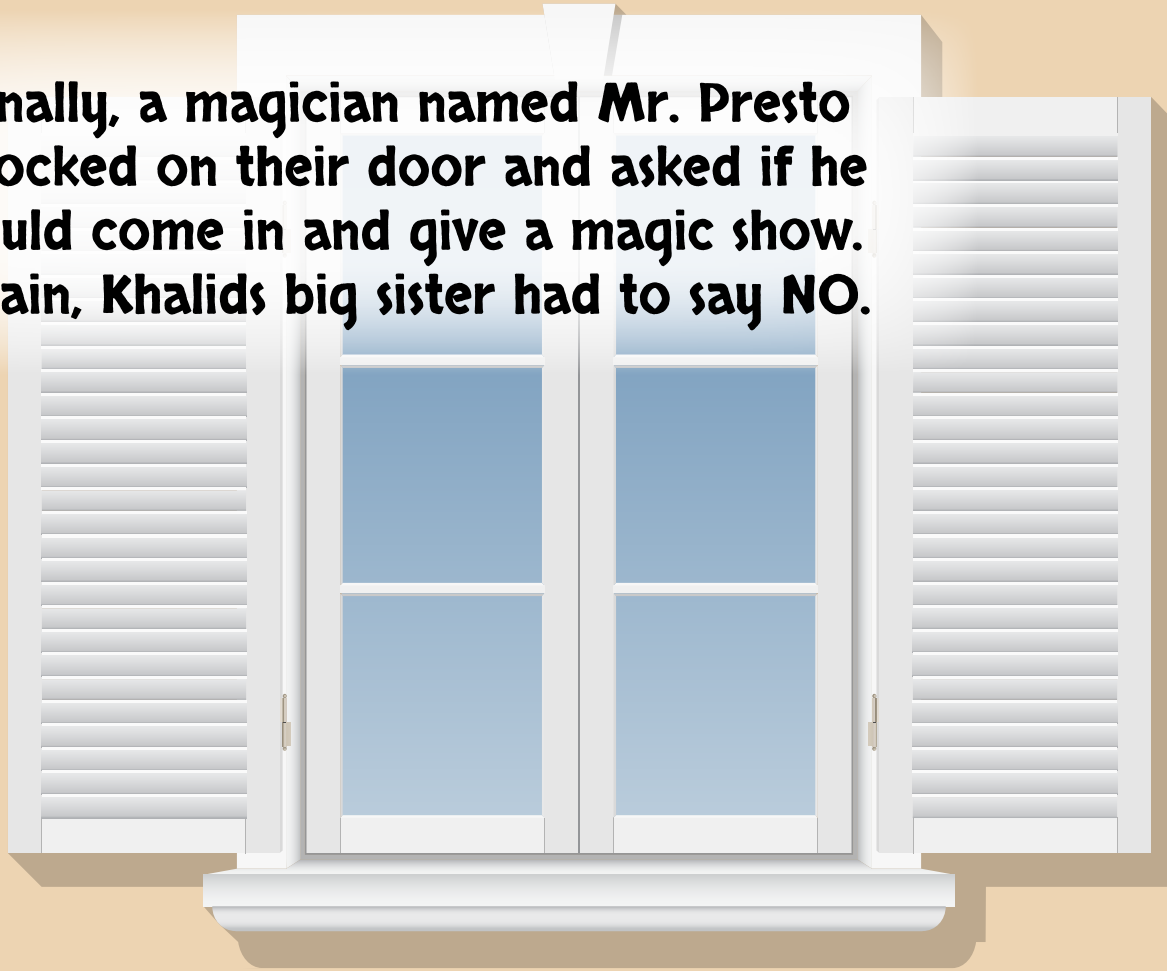

Khalid's Big brother had to decline, and explained they couldn't let strangers into their house because of their parents' strict instructions.

Finally, a magician named Mr. Presto knocked on their door and asked if he could come in and give a magic show. Again, Khalids big sister had to say NO.

Despite not being able to invite the strangers into their home, Khalid and his siblings had a great time together, playing and laughing. They were grateful to have a safe loving home where they could have fun without any worries.
